

Alternate Email Signatures

Use an alternate email signature to either include an agent's signature when sending a message on their behalf, or to exclude a signature altogether when sending an unbranded email.

Introduction

When you send an email from Pipeline, your own email signature will be included by default. But, when alternate signatures are turned on, you can opt to include agent signatures instead of your own, or to not include a signature at all.

Designating agents' signatures on the fly allows many offices to significantly streamline their admin's workflow.

Use alternate signatures to:

- Include agent signatures in your emails to seamlessly represent them. This gives the impression that you're writing on behalf of the agent, builds trust with your recipients, and encourages direct and smooth communication between agents, their clients, and other parties.
- Remove signatures entirely to send a simple, unbranded email. This can help recipients avoid distractions and keep their focus on the content, rather than branding or unneeded clutter.

Enable Alternate Signatures on Your Messages

Turn on the option to include alternate signatures when you're sending messages from transactions. Once turned on, you can choose from your own signature, an agent's signature, or no signature at all.

Who Can Do This? Admins can turn on alternate signatures.

To turn on alternate signatures for your messages:

- 1 Go to your Personal Profile by clicking your name in the upper right corner, then [Personal Profile].
- 2 Scroll down to Your Email Settings.
- 3 Check the option to [Enable alternate signatures on my messages].

Your Email Settings

- Receive email acknowledgement whenever you send in docs to your maildrop
- Receive monthly production summary by email
- Receive notification when agent adds doc to a transaction
- Receive daily email with upcoming tasks
- Receive daily activity email
- Include me in the staff recipients section of Notes
- Enable alternate signatures on my messages

- 4 Click [Save Settings]. When sending messages on transactions, you'll now have the option to include an agent's signature or no signature at all.

Include an Agent's Email Signature on a Message

Include an agent's email signature when sending an email on their behalf to build trust with your recipients and encourage smooth communication between agents, their clients, and other parties.

Who Can Do This? Admins can include agents' signatures on messages sent from transactions when they have enabled alternate signatures.

To include agent signatures on a message:

- 1 When composing an email on a transaction, click the [Signature dropdown menu] in the Options area.
